CORAM : V.M.KANADE, J.

DATED : 30th January 2006.

COMMON P.C.

1. The learned counsel appearing for the applicants, on instructions, seek permission to withdraw these applications with liberty to approach appropriate court. The applicants are granted liberty to apply before the appropriate court. If the application for bail is made before the appropriate court, the said application shall be considered and decided expeditiously. With these directions, the applications are allowed to be withdrawn. The interim orders granted by this Court to stand vacated from Monday 06th February 2006. The applicants shall give prior notice of the application to the Investigating Officer and shall surrender before the competent Court. The trial Court shall not construe withdrawal of the anticipatory bail as a rejection of the application on merits.
